Indoor Baseball

Hold on to your hats folks, Wrangell will see some baseball yet even if it is in the tabloid form of an indoor game. A complete outfit of bases, balls and bats have been ordered and practice will begin immediately on their arrival.

The rink will be the scene of the baseball encounters. Watch for a poster advertising "Baseball Tonight, St. Philips vs Sentinels."

Argentine Republic.

The area of the Argentine Republic is 1,778,195 square miles, about one-half the size of the United States.

Complimenting Granny.

Little Billy—I don't like my Aunt Nellie, granny. Granny—Why not, Billy? Billy—Well, she was nasty to me, and when she dies I shan't go to her funeral, but I'll go to yours with pleasure, granny.—London Opinion.

He Wasn't a Beauty.

Matrimonial Agent (hesitatingly)—Yes, my dear, sir, but it will be very difficult to find a wife for you. Applicant—Haven't you anything a bit short sighted in stock?—London Titbits

Professional Blunder.

"Throw up your hands!" "All right. Go through me as quick as you can. I'm on my way home from seeing a smallpox patient, and I want to change my"— "Go on!"—Chicago Tribune.

Fish Egg Booming

The little town of Fish Egg, on Fish Egg Island, has had a remarkable growth during the last year. Established in the spring of 1911 and less than one year ago, the town now boasts a white population of about 100 souls engaged in various occupations at Fish Egg or nearby points.

She Wouldn't Make Trouble.

She was not one of these trouble making women. In fact, she had the greatest contempt for people of that kind. She said so herself. "And she spoke of you, too," she said in telling a friend of a call. "What did she say?" "Oh, I'd rather not tell you, dear. There's no use making trouble, you know."—Chicago Post.

A Happy Primitive.

The man of the stone age crawled out of his cave and cracked a cliff with his new flint hammer. "At least," he chortled, "I haven't any stone trust to bother me!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Getting Back.

She—I wouldn't marry you if you were the only man on earth. He—Well, considering that in such a case I would have a large number of suitors to select from, I don't think you would.—Boston Transcript.

Stump Breaks

Man's Leg

John Hopkins was brought in from Point Ward construction camp last Saturday suffering a broken leg caused by the fall of a monster stump which was blasted out to make room for the new cannery building. But for the fact that the jack that Hopkins was working with fell down beside the leg and preventing the full force of the stump bearing upon the leg, the blow probably would have amputated or made necessary the amputation of the leg.

Hopkins was brought to Wrangell for surgical aid and at present the break is mending nicely.

Show and Dance

Crawford and Bandur gave another of their popular motion picture shows at Red Men's Hall Wednesday evening. The show was followed by a dance and all in attendance report a fine time.

Smelter Sold

The Copper Mountain mines and smelter near Sulzer, which have been idle for a number of years, have been lately sold to a Denver capitalist for $34,000. The mines produce a good grade of copper and will be worked during 1912.

Promoted

Sergeant Hill, operator in charge of the Cable Office, bought Johnny Colp's gasboat Monday. His many friends can now address him as Captain.

Breaking It Gently.

"I have called, sir, to see the photo of the lady with $25,000 who wants a husband. "Can you keep your face straight?" "Of course I can!" "Very well. We'll break you in first with the $5,000 applicants, and then gradually, as you grow stronger, we will work you up to the big prize. This way, please, and don't get frightened."

Men Wear Combs.

The traveler in India is surprised to see that men wear combs in their hair much more than women do. A Cingalese gentleman wears what we know as the circular comb and a very ornamental back comb of tortoise shell to gather his curly locks together. He wears a full beard also, but his servant must trim his own beard and is only allowed to wear the circular comb.

Something From Nothing.

Some children were once asked by an inspector at a school examination whether they knew the meaning of the word "scandal." One little girl, holding her hand up, attracted the notice of the inspector. He desired her to answer the question, upon which she gave this definition: "Nobody does nothing, and everybody goes round telling it."—Ave Maria.

A Question of Titles.

"I'm goin' to use de show tickets dat guy slipped me," said Meandering Mike. "I wouldn't go near a show wid dat name." "Wat's de matter wit 'Ten Nights In a Barroom?'" "Is dat it? Ah! I come near missin' it! I thought it was 'Ten Nights In a Bathroom!'"—Washington Star.

Emily M. Sold

Crawford and Bandur, who recently fitted out the Emily M, for carrying their moving picture outfit to the different Alaska towns returned to Wrangell on the Humboldt, Tuesday and report the sale of the boat in Sitka. They encountered some very bad weather on their travels between the West Coast towns.

What a "Gent" Is.

"Gent" is an abbreviation which has never been accepted by polite society, as a witness appearing before Mr. Justice Wightman once found to his cost. He was testifying to the excellent character of the defendant, and among the points in his favor remarked that he was "an independent gent." "An independent what?" interrupted Judge Wightman. "A gent, my lord," repeated the witness. "Oh, I understand," replied the judge. "That's something short of a gentleman, isn't it?"—London Spectator.

An Unanswerable Argument.

The poor relation had not been invited to the formal function at the great house, but he went to the door in spite of that oversight. "Where's your card?" inquired the first gentleman in waiting. "Haven't got any," responded the poor relation meekly. "Nobody can get in without a card." "Well, I'm nobody," murmured the poor relation, but the first gentleman in waiting could not grasp the delicate humor of it, and the poor relation was turned away.—Lippincott's.

Basketball

St. Philips boys trimmed the city team to the tune of 21 to 7 in a fast game of basketball at the Rink Tuesday evening. Except during the first few minutes of play, the St. Philips team made the best showing.

The spectators were entertained between halves by C. A. Gregg, of Pittsburg, Pa. who had been engaged by the management of the rink to give some exhibition skating.

Amateur Might Do as Well.

"Tell the truth, now. You are a professional beggar, are you not?" said the keen faced individual who had been approached. "I used to think I was," replied the weary wayfarer, "but since 13 cents is all I have to show for a day's work I am forced to the conclusion that I am merely an amateur."—Stray Stories.

Didn't Know the Location.

"Where was he struck by the automobile?" asked the coroner. "At the junction of the dorsal and cervical vertebrae," answered the surgeon. "Will you please point that out on the map?" asked the coroner, indicating one that hung on the wall.—House-keeper.

NOTICE OF MARSHAL'S SALE

United States of America) S. S.
District of Alaska

Public notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias (or execution), dated January, A. D. 1912, issued out of the District Court, of the United States for the First Division, District of Alaska, on a judgement rendered in said Court, on the 12th day of October, A. D. 1911, in favor of F. M. Jordan and against the El Capitan Mining Company, I have this 15th day of January, A. D. 1912, levied upon the following described personal property and real estate, situated in the District of Alaska, to-wit:

Those certain mining claims called the J. C. Rathbun Marble claim, the George Pulver Marble claim, and the George Kelly Marble claim, all of which were located on the 8th day of September, 1902, by J. C. Rathbun, Libbie C. Rathbun, Milton L. Van Dyke, Laura L. Van Dyke, George Pulver, Sallie B. Pulver, F. W. Woodman and E. A. P. Woodman, as an association of persons, the same being situated about eight miles from Shakan post office upon or near Klavak Passage, Prince of Wales Islands, District of Alaska, each of which claims containing one hundred and sixty acres and all as shown by the location certificates filed and now of record in the office of the Recorder of the Ketchikan Mining District, in Vol. 1 of Mines, at pages Rathbun, 464; Pulver, 465; Kelly, 463.

Those certain mining claims called the "W. A. Finn" marble mining claim, the R. L. Fox marble mining claims, and the Fielden Smith marble mining claim, as located, surveyed, recorded and as held by the locaters thereof, situated in Wrangell Mining District, District of Alaska, described as follows: Each and all of said marble mining claims were located on the 15th day of January, 1900, by Louisa Finn, W. A. Finn, Fielden Smith, Eliza J. Smith, R. L. Fox, J. Q. Denton and Lucy Denton, as an association of persons, and the same being situated about eight miles from Shakan post office upon or near Klavak Passage, Prince of Wales Islands, District of Alaska, each of said claims containing one hundred and sixty acres, and all as shown by the location certificates thereof filed and now of record in the office of the recorder of said Wrangell Mining District, in Vol. 12 of mines, at pages 79, 80 and 81 thereof, and to which reference is hereby made.

One hundred and sixty acres of placer mining ground, being the Milton Van Dyke marble claim, situated on the Klavak Passage on the west coast of Prince of Wales Islands, in the Ketchikan Mining District, District of Alaska, described as follows: to-wit: Beginning at the northeast corner of the W. A. Finn Marble claim, thence running westerly 320 rods; thence northerly 80 rods; thence easterly easterly 320 rods; thence southerly 80 rods to the place of beginning, the location notice whereof is recorded in the office of the Recorder of the Ketchikan Mining District in Vol. 2 of Mines, at page 305.

One hundred and sixty acres of placer ground, being the Seattle marble claim, situated on the Klavak Passage, on the west coast of Prince of Wales Island, in the Ketchikan Mining District, in the District of Alaska, described as follows: Beginning at the southeast corner of the R. L. Fox marble claim, thence running westerly 320 rods, thence southerly 80 rods, thence easterly about 320 rods to tide water; thence along the meander line to place of beginning, the location whereof is recorded in the office of the Recorder of the Ketchikan Mining District in Vol. 2 of Mines, at page 303.

One hundred and sixty acres of placer mining ground, being the Ridge marble claim, situated on the Klavak Passage, on the west coast of Prince of Wales Islands in the Ketchikan Mining District, in the District of Alaska, described as follows, to-wit: Beginning at the northeast corner of the Milton Van Dyke marble claim, thence running westerly 320 rods; thence northerly 80 rods; thence easterly 320 rods; thence southerly 80 rods to the place of beginning, the location notice whereof is recorded in the office of the Recorder of the Ketchikan Mining District, in Vol. 2 of Mines at page 312.

One hundred and sixty acres of placer mining ground, being the South marble claim, situated on the Klavak Passage, on the west coast of Prince of Wales Islands, in the Ketchikan Mining District, in the District of Alaska, described as follows, to-wit: Beginning at the southeast corner of the Seattle marble claim, thence running westerly to the southwest corner of said Seattle claim, thence southerly 80 rods to tide water; thence easterly 320 rods, or to tide water, thence along the meander line to the place of beginning, the location notice whereof is recorded in the office of the Recorder of the Ketchikan Mining District, in Vol. 2 of Mines at page 304.

And all re-locations and amended locations, if any, of each and all of said claims.

Also the following machinery, being located at or near the quarry upon said mining property, to-wit:

Three gang saws to saw 10'0"x6"x6"
Two 48"x8" Freni sand pumps for feeding sand or steel to saws.

One transfer car.
Three block cars for gangs.
One ton saw blades.
One 50 H. P. Atlas engine.
One 60 H. P. Boiler.
One 40 H. P. Boiler.
One 20 H. P. Boiler with winch attached.

One 6 1-2 Sullivan Channeller.
One V. X. Sullivan Channeller.
One 40 ton hand derrick with guys.
One drill press, blacksmith shop, blacksmith tools and forge.

One steam pump.
Pulleys, shafting and belting to run all machinery, and all derricks, tools, steel, ropes, tracks, cars and other personal property of whatsoever nature now on said mining property or used for the operation of the same.

Also two barges used in connection with the said mining property and lying in the waters adjacent thereto, one being 22x88 feet and the other being 12x30 feet.

Together with the appurtenances thereunto belonging or in any way appertaining:

And that I will, accordingly, offer said personal property and real estate for sale, at public vendue to the highest and best bidder, for cash, on the 29th day of February, A. D. 1912, at 2 o'clock P. M. on the above mentioned premises situated about eight miles from Shakan, Prince of Wales Islands, Alaska.

Dated January 5th, A. D. 1912:

H. L. FAULKNER,
U. S. Marshal,
District of Alaska:

Have of the Hide Hunters.

In 1881 the buffalo hide hunters shipped 50,000 buffalo hides to the east. The next year the number was 200,000 and in 1883 40,000. Only 300 were reported in 1884, and after that there was none at all. In 1883 Sitting Bull and his band, with some white hunters, killed the last 10,000 of the northern herd. The last survivors, twenty-eight in number, were killed at the Big Horn in 1885 and were mounted for the National Museum. With that the wild buffalo of North America practically ceased to exist except for a few in the Yellowstone National Park and a handful in the wilds of Athabasca.—Outing.

New England.
New England was named by Captain John Smith, not by the pilgrims or Puritans. It was the name that Smith gave to the first settlement, made in 1607 at Jamestown. Later on the region settled by Smith took the name of "Virginia," while the original designation came to be applied exclusively to the region now formed by the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Being an Englishman, it was quite natural that Smith should name his settlement after his native land just as the Dutch did when they named their original settlement by the Battery "New Amsterdam."—New York American.

Valued Information.
There was a young schoolteacher who thought she knew how to rule boys by kindness and not by fear. So on the first day she assumed a bright smile and told them that she wouldn't be angry at a little innocent fun. If they whispered she was willing to believe that it was necessary. She would treat them like gentlemen and ladies, not like babies. As long as they didn't throw spitballs they could go as far as they liked. That was the only thing she detested.

It made a great hit with the school, that. For months they haven't done anything but throw spitballs.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

EFFECTS OF REASON.

Reason, like the magnetic influence imparted to iron, gives to matter properties and powers which it possessed not before, but without extending its bulk, augmenting its weight or altering its organization. Like that to which I have compared it, it is visible only by its efforts and perceptible only by its operations.—Caleb C. Colton.

School Notes

Alice Kincaid, Correspondent

The birthday of the famous Scotch poet, Robert Burns, will be observed Thursday, January 25th. A short program consisting of songs, recitations and quotations from Burns will be given in the Principal's room beginning at 3 P. M. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

We regret that Esther Tervo is absent on account of sickness.

The seventh grade has completed the work assigned in Arithmetic by the course of study and expect to complete about one half of the eighth grade arithmetic before the close of the term.

Martha Tervo was enrolled in the first grade last week, making fifty-three pupils in the primary room.

The Supreme Test.
"There never was Amos' equal for an' down good nature," said Mrs. Clifford in speaking of her deceased husband to the new boarder. "My son Joe always said pa was more patient than Job."
"I tell you," she continued, "you can figure for yourself how patient Amos was by this. Our old horse Dandy would get the rein under his tail and keep it there off 'n' on for ten mile without Amos' getting mad."—Youth's Companion.

Date Palms.
There are said to be more than 100 varieties of date palm, all distinguished by their fruit, and the Arabs say that a good housewife can furnish her husband with a dish of dates differently prepared every day for a month.

Double Boilers.
Cooking in a double boiler is sometimes so slow that cooks should know that adding a tablespoonful of salt to the water in the outer vessel will raise the temperature of the food more quickly.

The secret marks on Bank of England notes by which forgeries are so rapidly detected are constantly being changed. The microscope will reveal many such peculiarities to an observant eye.

Marlin Big Game REPEATING RIFLES

The Special Smokeless Steel barrel, rifled deep on the Ballard system, creates perfect combustion, develops highest velocity, and hurls the bullet with utmost accuracy and mightiest killing impact.

The mechanism is direct-acting, strong, simple and perfectly adjusted. It never clogs. The protecting wall of solid steel between your head and cartridge keeps rain, sleet, snow, and all foreign matter from getting into the action. The side ejection throws shells away from line of sight and allows instant repeat shots always.

Built in perfect proportion throughout, in many high power calibres, it is a quick handling powerful, accurate gun for all big game.

The Tailor to Blame.

We must after all blame the tailor for the unnecessary clothes he has induced us to wear. Centuries ago, as Sir Walter Scott tells us in "Ivanhoe," men wore one thickness of clothes, whether of wool, leather or velvet. The shirt was invented, but for a long time was worn only by the nobility and gentry. Then followed the waistcoat, breeches and later on trousers. The overcoat, which succeeded the medieval cloak, was rare until the seventeenth century. So it is the tailor that has made man what he is, with his long catalogue of petty ailments that proceed from overdressing his body.—London Spectator.

A Real Difficulty.

"A funny incident occurred on a German railway train whereon I was a passenger," says an American who spends a bit of his time abroad.

"A certain stolid Teuton had been assigned to a seat in the coach that obliged him to ride backward through the Black forest. At the first stopping place he asked the postmaster, pursuant to German regulations, to give him another seat, saying it made him ill to ride backward.

"Ask the man opposite to change with you," said the postmaster gruffly.

"But there is nobody opposite me, protested the German, 'so I cannot ask him.'—Harper's Magazine.

Representative Government.

So far as we know, the first representative government that the world ever had was that which appeared in the case of the Roman tribune. After a hard and long fight the plebeians (the plain people) managed to get a tribune whose business it was to represent them in the government circles. Before the creation of the tribune the common people had no representation whatever in the lawmaking part of the government, the whole thing being in the hands of the patricians. From the Roman tribune have sprung historically and logically all the representative devices that are at present to be found on earth.—New York American.
